

Flight Review+Refresher Course

Haven't flown in years?

To exercise your privileges to fly as pilot in command, you need to complete a flight review every 24 calendar months. Flight reviews are an easy, low-cost way for the FAA to ensure pilots maintain a safe level of currency and proficiency. They're not "pass or fail", and they can be conducted by any current flight instructor. Flight Reviews serve as a good way to brush-up on skills, maneuvers, and procedures that you don't use in your normal day-to-day flying.

AIRMAX AVIATION provides course for pilots who need to refresh their knowledge. Course includes:

Communications
VFR Regulations Refresher
VFR Cross-Country Flying
Navigation From A to Z
Weather Wise
Night Flying
Surviving Your Most Feared Emergencies
Airport Signs, Markings & Procedures
Practical Risk Management For Pilots in Airspaces
